To whom it may concern,

D.A.R.S Media Services employed Roman Haliziw as a graphic designer who contributed to projects independently with no supervision in an experienced and capable manner.

While with the D.A.R.S Media Services, Roman received 3 work orders to complete.

One of the work orders involved creative consulting with an agency director in the conceptual development of a state wide poster graphic. He created and refined the informational design of an existing graph for this program and branded a logo design of an iconic mascot to represent this programs core philosophy.

Roman also provided hands on creative labor in the art department as a printer, poster framer and packager.

Roman has reliable work habits and appears to adjust well to the Media Services daily work activities. He is a friendly and professional designer that displays industry knowledge of graphic design techniques and is fluent in the computer design applications we use for Design and Publishing.

I would enjoy working with Roman again.
